

INTERSECTIONAL HIV PLANNING

2021

What is Intersectional Planning?

- Making HIV Planning ‘intersectional’ means identifying and addressing health and social issues that impact the HIV Care Continuum but are outside of direct HIV Prevention and Care.
- This process is an important systems-based planning tool for Integrated HIV Planning!
- It views the HIV Care Continuum through the intersections with other related illnesses, social situations, and agencies.

How Intersectional Planning works

Issues/topics are collected from HIV public health practice, consumers and townhalls, the HPG, the Assessment subcommittee, and the Division of HIV Disease.

Each year the HPG discusses possible topics and, using their expertise and lived experience, selects the most important issues in PA for further investigation.

The HGP and the Assessment subcommittee then receive presentations and reports from agencies working on these issues, and the Assessment subcommittee develops recommendations that will improve the next IHPCP

What Intersectional Planning does

- Investigates and highlights specific, HIV-related issues in PA; it allows the HPG (and our planning) to be responsive as people's experiences change
- Leverages the strengths and expertise of both the HPG as a whole and our planning partners.
- Is a big part of the Assessment subcommittee's work shaping specific recommendations that will improve HIV Prevention and Care in the next IHPCP.

Examples!

2018:

- Statewide HIV-related Stigma

2019:

- Statewide Racial Health Disparities
- Transportation needs for PLWH
- Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA)

2020:

- Stigma (ongoing)
- COVID-19

Priorities for 2021!

The HPG needs to prioritize a new set of intersectional issues that are impacting the HIV epidemic and PLWH.

All HPG members and partners should read the list on the next page and consider what specific issues to prioritize for this year.

In the February HPG meeting, the assessment subcommittee will (during subcommittee time) discuss all options and offer suggestions to the HPG.

At the next HPG meeting in May, community members may decide to vote for specific issues.
